COMPANY L CLAIMS THE SUPERIOR TEAM

Dispute Is Settled When Militia Boys Defeat High School At Basket Ball

Company L 36, High School 21
The dispute as to which was the better basket ball team was settled Saturday evening at the Armory. The result gave Company L. the honors over the High school boys.

The militia team is composed of older heads and although they were not in as good physical condition, their experience won the game for them. The first part of the struggle rather impressed the spectators as though the High school team was going to have an easy victory.

Fenelon started out with low pretty baskets and Caldwell followed with another. Then Company L. settled down to hard work, soon had tied the score and played ahead. The first half ended 13 to 11 in favor of the soldier boys.

At the commencing of the second half Company L. hit up a fast clip and scored enough points to give a safe lead. The team then dropped back into a comfortable easy gait and held up the lead.

At times the High school five displayed some excellent team work and made several clever baskets. The first half was slow and uninteresting owing to the numerous fouls. In the second half, however, petty fouls were overlooked and the game was much faster.

A preliminary game was played between two High school Freshman girls' teams which resulted in a tie score, 10 to 10. There is some promising material in the Freshman class for the High school girls' team next year.

CIRCUIT COURT NEWS

Willette Suit Against Paper Company Is Now On.

After a recess from Friday noon circuit court was again called to order by Judge A. Reid Tuesday afternoon.

The case now occupying the attention of the court is the suit of Joseph Willette against the Rhineland Paper Company. The plaintiff is represented by Holland & Lovett and Krueger. Bird, Rosenberry & Oloneski are attorneys for the paper company. The next case to come to trial will be that of The state vs Anton Huettel, who must answer to the charge of assault and battery. A change of venue from Forest county was taken in this case. About thirty people from Wabeno and other towns in that part of the county have been subpoenaed as witnesses. The preliminary hearing in this matter required eight days time in a justice court. The case is one of no small importance and the proceedings and results will be watched with interest.

CAMPS BREAKING UP

The thaw of the last week has caused a few of the lumber camps in this vicinity to abandon operations for the season. While there is still plenty of snow in the woods the warm weather has made it impossible to maintain ice roads for hauling. On a whole the winter has been a successful one for the loggers and much work has been accomplished, although the break-up is somewhat earlier than in recent years.

The woodsmen are beginning to come into the city and are spending considerable money among the merchants.

WRECK ON SOO LINE

Twelve loaded cars of a Soo line freight train went off a bridge near Dunbar last Thursday night. The engine passed safely over the trestle and the caboose did not leave the track.

The wreck tied up all east bound traffic on the road for a number of hours. The Pacific limited due in mail car was responsible for the Rhinelanders at 2:10 Friday morning trouble. No one was hurt. The wreck did not interfere with traffic. Bread and other provisions and number 6, the south bound limited from this city were furnished by the ited, arrived in Rhinelanders company for the hungry passengers. Passenger train number 85 was also delayed about four hours.

FIVE AND COSTS

Ed. Wolfgang of Jennings was fined five dollars and costs this week for assaulting Ignatz Zels, also of that town with the Rhinelanders Paper company several weeks ago.

BIG BASKET BALL GAME

Antigo and Merrill Highs to Meet Here Saturday Evening

Basket ball fans of Rhinelanders are looking forward with keen interest to the contest between the Merrill and Antigo high school teams to take place at the Armory in this city next Saturday evening.

These two teams are the fastest in northern Wisconsin. They now stand a tie and will play this game on neutral territory to decide which will represent this section of the state at the interscholastic tournament at Lawrence University, Appleton, March 31 and April 1 and 2.

The game will attract considerable attention and a large number of rooters from both Antigo and Merrill will be here on that evening to cheer for their favorite team. It is expected that the crowd will be the largest to ever witness a basketball exhibition in this city. The game will start at 8:30 o'clock. Tickets can be purchased at any time up to late Saturday afternoon at Sawtell's store.

FAIR SOCIETY HAS ITS 1910 MEETING

F. T. Coon Is Elected President—
County Is Assured a Good Fair
Next Fall.

The annual meeting of the Oneida County Agricultural Association was held at the city hall building, Monday afternoon.

Stille Over President

There were three candidates in the field for president of the association and it was in the election of this official that a lively contest existed. F. T. Coon finally won out for the office over his opponents, Chas. Pelliel and Prescott Calkins.

Mr. Belliel represented the "base ball people. They harbored the idea that if Mr. Coon should become head of the society it would make some difference in their present plans to use the fair grounds for a ball park during the coming season. It appears since that their fears were groundless as Mr. Coon, the newly elected president, has notified the management that he will not interfere with their sport. He says that the ball team can use the grounds with as much freedom as last year. This announcement has caused a smile to flicker across the faces of the fans.

Arthur Taylor was re-elected secretary; Jerry Driscoll vice president; George Mahoney, treasurer; D. F. Recker, superintendent of speed; B. M. Moran and F. E. Parker, directors.

The executive committee is composed of the above officers.

Good Fair Assured

Mr. Coon has been president of the association before and proved himself an efficient executive. He is a booster who will work early and late for the good of the organization. With Mr. Coon and his able staff of assistant officers at the helm there is no doubt but what Oneida county may be assured of a splendid fair next fall.

ST. PATRICK'S DAY

The Irish of Rhinelanders and some people who are not of that nationality are observing St. Patrick's day. This morning the members of the Ancient Order of Hibernians, headed by the Military band, marched from their hall through the principal streets to St. Mary's church where they attended services. Green ribbon and shamrocks are strongly in evidence and to all appearances "Paddy" is enjoying himself immensely.

CARS JUMP TRACK

As number 17, the north bound Northwestern afternoon passenger train, was pulling into Ashland Friday evening, two passenger coaches were derailed and the mail car was thrown off the track onto its side. A loose wheel on the truck of the after every team that goes by and in the several instances have been known to snap at children. With the approach of spring the nuisance should be dispensed with by killing every valueless canine that comes within range of a gun. It should not be necessary for the people to experience a hydrophobia scare before they take action on the matter.

F. H. Johnson, a former Rhinelanders lumberman now of Lansing, Mich. was in the city during the week.

ANTIGO MAN MEETS A HORRIBLE DEATH

Life of Robert Bradnock, Car Repairer, Is Crushed Out Between Two Freight Cars

Robert Bradnock, a young man whose home was at Antigo, met a shocking and untimely death in the Northwestern yards in this city last Saturday forenoon.

Caught Between Cars

Bradnock was employed as car repairer and the accident occurred while he was repairing a draw bar on a gondola. It is the duty of a repairer when busy about a bad order car to set out a signal notifying members of train crews of his presence. This, it is alleged, the young man neglected to do. The switch engine and a few cars were backing down the siding on which Bradnock was at work. He was caught between the gondola and a box car and horribly crushed. When picked up by the yard crew the unfortunate was unconscious, although it could be seen that life was not extinct. He was hurried to the hospital, but died before reaching there.

At Work Two Days

Young Bradnock was twenty-four years of age and had only been employed in the railroad yards here about two days. His parents are both dead and previous to coming to this city he had been residing with relatives at Antigo. Those who were acquainted with him claim that he was an industrious young man respected by every one.

The remains were taken to Antigo for burial Saturday evening.

This is the first time in many years that an employee has been killed in the Northwestern yards in this city. The fact that Bradnock did not set out his signal while working on the car was no doubt due to his inexperience. No one is held responsible for the accident.

BANQUET DR. J. T. ELLIOTT

Big Four Club Honors Physician Last Saturday Evening

Although Dr. J. T. Elliott thinks himself rather fussy at all times, yet the members of the Big Four Club sprung a genuine surprise on him, last Saturday evening, when he was invited to attend a banquet in his honor at Henning's Cafe. As the doctor was about to leave for Caradoc, the Club through the president, Dr. Willard Fisher, presented him with a handsome traveling bag. The gentleman medicine man was taken so completely off his guard that he could scarcely find words to thank the boys for their gift. In his five minutes on the floor, however, he managed to voice his appreciation in a style such as only he is capable of. The little talk made a decided hit with the crowd and at its conclusion all gave three cheers for "Doc and Owen Sound."

The banquet prepared by Chef Henning was excellent and so were the songs, stories and orations which followed. Numbers worthy of mention were the selections by the Glee Club, the "Adams Standard Quartette, the solos by Robt. Inger, and E. C. Sturdevant's funny German song. All declared it the most successful party ever given by the Big Four.

Dr. Elliott departed for Owen Sound, Monday morning. Many members of the Club gathered at the depot to wish him a pleasant trip.

KILL OFF THE DOGS

An effort should be made by the proper authorities to rid Rhinelanders of the worthless curs that now infest its streets. Strangers to this city often remark on the large number of dogs seen roaming about the main business thoroughfares. Many of the animals are without owners and regarded as public property. They amuse themselves by chasing the after every team that goes by and in the several instances have been known to snap at children. With the approach of spring the nuisance should be dispensed with by killing every valueless canine that comes within range of a gun. It should not be necessary for the people to experience a hydrophobia scare before they take action on the matter.

F. H. Johnson, a former Rhinelanders lumberman now of Lansing, Mich. was in the city during the week.

TO PLANT APPLE ORCHARD

Paul Browne Intends to Set Out 250 Young Trees

Paul Browne will set out two hundred and fifty young apple trees on two and one half acres of his land on the west bank of the Wisconsin river this spring. These trees will number six different varieties, although Mr. Browne intends to make a specialty of raising the Wealthy and Duchess apples. These varieties will thrive best in this country. When ready to bear, the small orchard, such as planned by Mr. Browne, will yield, according to his calculations, over one thousand bushels of apples.

Mr. Browne is of the candid opinion that within a very few years apple raising will be one of the chief industries in northern Wisconsin. The soil and climate of this section are suitable for producing many of the hardy varieties which will net good revenue for the orchard owner. In a few of the counties north of here, especially along the shores of Lake Superior, large crops of apples are harvested.

People of this city and county who are interested in horticultural methods would find it profitable to consult Mr. Browne. He has considerable ready information on the subject, gained from personal experience.

ORGANIZE CLUB FOR THE COMING SEASON

Base Ball Fans Hold Meeting Monday Evening—Team Needs Strong Support

The first active movement toward the organization of a base ball club in this city for the season of 1910 was made at the city hall last Thursday evening when the initial meeting of the fans was held. It is a source of regret that the gathering was not largely attended for only a small number of the real live admirers of the game was present. This fact, however, did not discourage those in charge, who went ahead with the business with as much zeal and enthusiasm as though the hall was crowded.

Old Officers Re-Elected

In the matter of electing officers for the coming season it was agreed unanimously to let the officials of last year's club retain their places. They are Chas. Pelliel, manager, Geo. da, the Club through the president, Dr. Willard Fisher, presented him with a handsome traveling bag. The gentleman medicine man was taken so completely off his guard that he could scarcely find words to thank the boys for their gift. In his five minutes on the floor, however, he managed to voice his appreciation in a style such as only he is capable of. The little talk made a decided hit with the crowd and at its conclusion all gave three cheers for "Doc and Owen Sound."

Much Support Needed

As stated in the New North, two weeks ago, it is most essential that if Rhinelanders desires a good ball team this year the citizens must come to the support of the same. As the situation now stands the management will be obliged to engage all salaried players as it will probably be impossible to secure any men who will give their services gratis. This, of course, will require considerable money in the treasury and the fans and public in general will be asked to donate. Everyone will be called upon to give as much as they can afford. It is the duty of the officers to give the city the strongest team in northern Wisconsin and this can be done with the proper aid.

RIPON GLEE CLUB COMING

Rhinelanders people will be delighted to learn that they will soon be given an opportunity to hear another concert by the Ripon College Glee Club. This organization of talented young singers appeared in the city last year and gave excellent satisfaction.

The Ripon College Glee Club will be at the Congregational church under the auspices of the Presb. Saturday evening, March 26. Prices 25 and 50 cents.

The family is away and the house has been locked but the fellow gained an entrance to the place after turning on the lights set to work to steal all the valuables in sight. He was making rapid headway when the officers nabbed him. The attention of Officer Smith was attracted to the house by the brilliant lights seen through all the windows.

Phillips—The annual banquet of the Phillips Curling Club, which is the leading social event of the year in this city, was held Tuesday evening at the Grand View Hotel. The Phillips curlers have no equals at the game and when at the Duluth tournament last winter they won all the big prizes.

Mayor David Rose of Milwaukee recently gave a lecture on prohibition at the Pierce Opera House.

Antigo—Geo. W. Hill has announced himself a candidate for mayor. Mr. Hill has formerly held this office and made an excellent official. He was urged to make the run again on a petition signed by all of the business men and leading citizens.

New London—The arrest of Wm. Bauernfiend, charged with selling liquor to a minor, sounds the first gun in the movement against the saloons. Other arrests for the same violation will follow. He will be prosecuted.

In the mean time school will be held in the city hall and church buildings.

Iron River—The Iron River creamery reopened for the season Saturday. Mr. Mollenhoff, the manager, states that the prospects are good for the best season that the creamery has ever had. The farmers around this territory are progressive and ready to push a good thing. The new creamery which is being built at Oulu will not affect the business here in any way.

Superior—The Irish-American club is preparing to take care of 400 persons on the night of March 17, when the club's annual banquet will be held. The banquet of the Superior society has come to be the great event among the Irish-Americans of the "twin ports" country.

And it came to pass that after he had advertised his goods, there came unto him great multitudes from all the regions round about and did buy of him. And when his competitors saw it they marvelled among themselves saying: "How be it that this man is busy while we loaf idly about our doors?" And we spake unto them, saying: "In this age of push and hustle it is easier for a camel to enter the eye of a needle than for a man to flourish without advertising."

KEEP THE KIDNEYS WELL

Health is Worth Saving, and Some Rhinelander People Know How to Save It

Many Rhinelander people take their lives in their hands by neglecting the kidneys when they know these organs need help. Sick kidneys are responsible for a vast amount of suffering and ill health, but there is no need to suffer nor to remain in danger when all diseases and aches and pains due to weak kidneys can be quickly and permanently cured by the use of Doan's Kidney Pills. The following statement leaves no ground for doubt.

W. H. Knox, of Eagle River, Wis. says: "I have used five or six of Doan's Kidney Pills and am well pleased with the results. I was troubled by weak kidneys for some time and though I tried various remedies, I was unable to find relief, until I heard of Doan's Kidney Pills. I have been steadily improving since using them and feel confident that they will completely cure me. I hope that other persons who are suffering from kidney trouble will try Doan's Kidney Pills."

BEAUTIFUL EASTER

About nineteen hundred and ten years ago,

As near as we can reckon,

Christ finished all His works on earth

And ascended into heaven.

God sent his beloved and only son,

In the guise of a spotless babe,

He suffered the trials and temptations of man

From his cradle to his grave.

He suffered the pangs of hunger at times,

Creating food for his use.

Showing himself a God, while under the rod,

Of the keenest pain, and abuse.

Patently, he bore it knowing full well

It was God's purpose that he should.

He bore the sneers and spite of the crowd

Like a God in man's form that he was.

But the keenest anguish it seems, was felt.

And expressed by God's suffering son

When he thought his father had withdrawn himself,

And left him to die there alone.

Mrs. D. M. Taylor.

Capt. Bogardus again hits the Bull's Eye

This world famous rifle shot who holds the championship record of 100 pigeons in 100 consecutive shots is living at Lincoln, Ill. Recently interviewed, he says: "I have suffered a long time with kidney and bladder trouble and have used several well known kidney medicines all of which gave me no relief until I started taking Foley's Kidney Pills. Before I used Foley's Kidney Pills I was subjected to severe backache and pains in my kidneys with oppression and ten times a cloudy voiding. While upon arising in the morning I would get dull headaches. Now I have taken three bottles of Foley's Kidney Pills and feel 100 per cent better. I am never bothered with my kidneys or bladder and once more feel like my own self. All this I owe solely to Foley's Kidney Pills and always recommend them to my fellow sufferers."

CANDIDATE FOR CONGRESS

The following item concerning P. H. McGarry, at one time a resident of Rhinelander, is taken from the Minneapolis Tribune:

P. H. McGarry of Walker, who will be a candidate for the Republican nomination for congress in the Sixth district, was in St. Paul yesterday.

Mr. McGarry met former Congressman C. H. Buckman, and other friends. Concerning the outlook in the Sixth, Mr. McGarry expressed himself as feeling confident of the outcome. The candidate who has appeared against Mr. Lindbergh, is a uniquely interesting figure. He has lived in the northern section of Minnesota for the past fifteen years, and few things have been done in that section in which he has not figured. He promoted the town of Walker, built one of the finest hotels in the state at that place, erected a handsome block and was otherwise interested in "booming" his town.

He, at one time, promoted a line of hospitals for lumbermen and was largely instrumental in his aid given, in securing the setting aside the Cass lake forest reservation, brought about by the Federation of Women's clubs.

Would Have Cost Him His Life.

Oscar Bowman, Lebanon, Ky., writes: "I have used Foley's Kidney Pills and take great pleasure in stating it cured me permanently of kidney disease which certainly would have cost me my life."

J. J. Reardon.

WILL NOT RETURN TO CITY

Rev. Wedge Writes He Cannot Leave Omaha Church.

Rev. F. H. Wedge will not return to Rhinelander this spring. He sends the following letter to the New North:

Omaha, Neb., March 10, 1910.

The Monroe Presbyterian Church objects to giving me a vacation for the purpose of engaging in a temperance campaign and it will mean that I will have to resign from my pastorate if I visit Rhinelander. After working so hard to gain the confidence of the people of Nebraska it hardly seems right for me to leave them again so soon. My sympathy and my prayers are for the success of the temperance cause. In no case never announce their coming your town. My interest does not end in just sympathy but I shall try to contribute towards the fund appropriated for the coming battle.

I believe from the returns of the last election the battle will be won by the temperance people. If any business thinks that a dry Rhinelander will mean a financial loss let him write to the Chief of Police at Lincoln, Neb., or to school board of that city and he will soon become convinced that aside from a few saloon keepers, bar tenders, gamblers and political grafters, every one has more money. Prohibition has become such a success in Lincoln that there are not enough people in favor of the saloons to make it necessary for a temperance campaign.

May God give victory to the temperance cause, answer the prayers of devoted mothers, and grant protection to the boys of Rhinelander.

Yours in the cause of temperance, FRED R. WEDGE.

The services on Sunday will be of an evangelistic nature, with special music at both services.

THE NEW NORTH.

THE NEW NORTH PRINTING CO.

MARCH 17, 1910

The local political pot is beginning to boil as the coming municipal election draws near.

President Taft attended the funeral of his brother-in-law, Thomas M. Laughlin last Sunday at Pittsburg. Mr. Laughlin ended his life with a bullet through his brain.

Loaded with Irish literature President Taft left Washington yesterday to give his St. Patrick's Day address this evening. Although the President is not Irish he boasts that he has kissed the blarney stone. Mr. Taft will give evidence of this at his speech.

It is good to observe that many Rhinelander people are still wearing booster buttons—although it is two weeks since Mr. Irving's lecture. They are the kind who were evidently impressed by the gentleman's rousing speech for a bigger and better town and are not going to forget to boost toward that end at every opportunity.

The leading Republican politicians of Minnesota have arranged a large banquet to be held in St. Paul, Saturday after the Conservation meeting. All the Congressmen of Minnesota and Senator Clapp are invited and Clifford Pinchot is made the central figure. The names of Senator Nelson and Secretary Ballinger are conspicuously omitted from the list although Mr. Ballinger will be in the city.

PLEDGES NOT KEPT

In President Taft's recent New York speech he declared that he had made no pledges to revise the tariff downwards, then he proceeded to prove the Payne-Aldrich-Cannon bill does reduce the duty about twelve percent.

Let's see about no pledges to revise the tariff downwards. In Mr. Taft's address at Milwaukee, when he was a candidate for President, he said:

"It is my judgment that a revision of the tariff in accordance with the pledges of the Republican platform will be on the whole a substantial revision downward." * * * I do not hesitate to say with all the emphasis of which I am capable that the party will perform its promises in good faith."

If you think the tariff was reduced downward study the schedules of the Dingley bill and those of the recent Payne-Aldrich-Cannon bill and you can decide for yourself.

While the duty on many of the costly articles used by the rich was not increased, it is plain to be seen that the common people are now paying much higher prices for the necessities of life due to the recent tariff increase. And the tools of the interests are now trying to ruin the political prospects of the progressives because they insist on carrying out the pledges of the Republican party to the people. Which will the people support at the polls? Those who tried to keep the pledges of the party or those who betrayed the people's trust?

FOR COUNTY OPTION

Captain William Mitchell Lewis of Racine, one of the Republican candidates for governor at the September primaries, comes out in a straight forward bold way for county option.

Captain Lewis declares that it is necessary for a courageous candidate to face the fact that the liquor question is one of the great problems of the year in Wisconsin.

"There can be no real progress in Wisconsin until the saloon problem has been divorced from other issues. The people have a right to what they want in government."

"County option would not enlarge the right of the people, but rather would enlarge their opportunity to express their will. If the sphere of influence of the saloon were confined to the city or village in which it were located it would not be a matter for the county to decide."

"But the influence of the saloon extends from the city into the country for a radius of several miles. Whatever the influence of that saloon is it is felt in the country surrounding the city as well as in the city itself."

"All persons living within the sphere of influence of a saloon have a right to a voice in the final decision as to whether that saloon shall exist. Anything short of this is infringement upon personal liberty. For personal liberty is not one sided."

"The rights of every individual are defined by the majority and are limited by the comfort, peace, and safety of the many. Not to abide by the will of the majority would be anarchy. It is a confession of the weakness of their cause for the liquor interests to oppose this plan for regulation."

We are glad to see a man who has the courage of his convictions. If Captain Lewis believes in local option, he should let the people know exactly where he stands and what he will support and then they can vote for him or not as they please.

F. E. McGovern has clearly stated that he is not for county option, so we know his position.

We should force candidates for the legislature to give their constituents their position on these great questions and not learn too late that they have sold themselves out soul and body for an office. The time for a man to state his views is when he announces his candidacy.

IS AN URGENT NEED

At next week's meeting of the County Board, we hope that the question of a road, and a good road at that, to the town of Cassian, will be thoroughly discussed, and finally adopted. The Business Men's Association has recommended this by an unanimous vote, and will have a committee to appear before the board and urge that the matter be pushed at once. The fact that there are 200 families now living in the territory that we want to reach means that the trade of about 1000 people will be brought to Rhinelander besides all the new families who will settle over there in coming years. A large company, whose lands are only eight miles west of this city, is pushing the sale of its lands, and will place probably 50 new families this year. As conditions are now, these families will trade at Tomahawk, which city is building a new creamery and a potato ware house, and in other ways gives just as good advantages to a farmer as we do. We must make inducements to farmers to come here, and not keep them away for lack of roads. This is the most important measure that Rhinelander can adopt this year, as eventually there will be several thousand people in the region that we want communication with. We hope that the board will not only adopt the plan, but take immediate measures to have the road built.

ALICE IN WONDERLAND

listened to the plaint of the lobster "You have baked me too brown, I must sugar my hair," without being able to improve on the culinary failure. Many another Alice-in-the-kitchen has almost expected her failures to reproach her when she herself has come to the realization that her own lack of foresight caused the catastrophes in the baking.

There are two essentials in the art of baking—a good oven and good material. The oven must be at right temperature for the baking and the material must be like Caesar's wife—"above reproach." Nearly every woman thinks that she is a born cook and she surely is if she knows enough to get the oven right and to choose the right proportions and right ingredients for her work. The woman who aspires to be a successful cook should be as familiar with the best materials as a workman with his tools or an artist with his colors. She should know that the absolute essential to good baking is good baking powder. Second-class baking powder will bring second class results. First class baking powder insures perfect bakings. That's the secret. Use only the best baking powder. That does not mean the most expensive, for the best in the market is Calumet, which sells at a moderate price. Calumet Baking Powder received the highest award at the World's Pure Food Exposition.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

Hannah Anderson, '10, returned to school Monday after an absence of six weeks on account of illness.

Clarence Lalonde '10, has been quite ill for the past three weeks.

The fortnightly meetings of the Literary societies were held on Friday afternoon. The Sophomore division is now known as the Phoenix Literary Club.

Mrs. J. J. Reardon gives a banquet on Friday evening to the Basket Ball team. This treat was promised them if they won the Merrill game played here on the 4th, and probably the prospect had considerable effect in deciding the victory.

Saturday evening, March 19, Merrill and Antigo play at the Armory for the championship of this section of the state. The winner of the game will be eligible to enter the Appleton tournament and compete for the state honors. This promises to be a very interesting contest, for the teams are quite evenly matched and have an equal number of games to their credit.

Plans are under discussion for some form of entertainment to be given at the High school for the benefit of the Athletic Association, which is still in debt.

Easter vacation falls this year from April 2 to April 11. The third quarter ends immediately before that time, leaving nine weeks after the opening of schools.

Anything you want to buy or sell? Just place a few lines in the want column—that will do the trick.

TO PUT END TO ALASKAN STEALS

BEVERIDGE'S BILLS AIM TO PREVENT FURTHER LOOTING OF PUBLIC DOMAIN.

VAST SUMS ARE INVOLVED

Washington.—Basing his action upon the disclosures made before the committee on territories by the representatives of the Morgan-Guggenheim syndicate, Senator Beveridge has introduced into the senate bills to prevent the further looting of the natural resources remaining in the public domain in Alaska.

His bills provide that all coal lands shall be withdrawn from public entry, and that hereafter individuals and corporations who desire to operate these lands shall do so through leases which are to run for not more than 20 years, and which are to cover not more than 2,500 acres in any one lease.

Mr. Beveridge made a statement to the senate when he presented the bills which in part is as follows:

"Returning to the testimony before the committee which gives point and substance to this particular thing at this time, I call the attention of the senate to the fact that the testimony of the manager of 'The Alaska Syndicate,' who voluntarily appeared before our committee, and who represented 'The Alaska Syndicate,' which is made up of the M. Guggenheim Sons and J. P. Morgan & Company interests, testified under cross-examination that the cash value of the Bering river coal fields alone was $300,000,000 gross; that it would probably take $700,000,000 out of this $300,000,000 to develop the coal fields and get the coal to the market, leaving a profit on the $700,000,000 of $200,000,000, or nearly 30 per cent. And these coal fields are quite near the seaboard, quite convenient to a port.

Other Fields Immensely Rich. "It was further testified that what is known as the 'Matanuska coal fields,' in the Cook inlet region, were in themselves worth at least as much as the Bering river coal fields. That is another $300,000,000.

"But, Mr. President, this is not all. I have secured the advanced report concerning Alaska of the geological survey, and it shows that, in addition to these two coal fields where $200,000,000 at least are accounted for, there are extensive coal deposits in the Alaska peninsula region, in the Yukon region, in the Seward peninsula, and in northern Alaska. So it is certain that all the coal in Alaska is worth many billions of dollars—not many millions, but many billions. I will not say how many billions, for the aggregate astounds the understanding and probably would not be credited if expressed in dollars."

Senator Beveridge's bills and his speech are significant in that their bearing upon the Ballinger case was clearly apparent, and also because they were accepted as formal abandonment by the senator of the discredited if expressed in dollars."

Scheme of Gigantic Size.

This bill, the Ballinger scandal and the efforts of the Morgan-Guggenheim syndicate to grab everything of value in Alaska are now so closely associated in the suspicion with which all are regarded, that they are naturally discussed as parts of the same gigantic scheme against the public interest. The Alaskan bill was so clearly intended to benefit the great financial combination that it was bitterly opposed in the senate until its withdrawal became necessary to prevent further scandal. It was proposed and advocated as an administration bill, and was urged by President Taft upon senators when they called at the White House.

Under the bill providing for a legislative council for Alaska, it was contended that that council would have charge over the resources of that country, and that the Morgan-Guggenheim syndicate would have been able to control them. In fact, Messrs. Birch and Steele admitted as much before the committee on territories. Senator Beveridge, who reported the Alaskan legislative bill from the committee on territories, when it was brought to his attention that this would be the result, consented to having the bill deposited from the position of vantage which it had as unfinished business of the senate, and when the Morgan-Guggenheim representatives made the damaging admissions before his committee as to the wealth of the prize for which they were contending in Alaska, he brought in the bills, the effect of which will be to preserve that prize to the public. There is no doubt but that a majority of the men in this congress are not in sympathy with a real conservation policy, but in the light of the testimony of Messrs. Birch and Steele, and of the investigations as to the mineral wealth of the country made by the geological survey, it is believed that even those who are opposed cannot withstand the pressure, and that there will be some kind of legislation this session which will preserve the mineral fuel lands remaining in the public domain to the public.

SECURES MONEY ON CRANDON MAN'S NAME

Stranger Says He Is H. L. Roe and Is Arrested—Is Also Wanted For Forgery

On the representation that he was H. L. Roe, a leading citizen of North Crandon, a man who in municipal court gave his real name as Ernest Wenzel, endeavored to borrow money from several leading business men in this city, Monday afternoon. Only one man, B. F. Lewis, the hardware dealer fell a victim to the fellow's smooth talk and handed him a dollar. People in Rhinelander, who are personally acquainted with Mr. Roe, finally complained to the police and the crook was arrested by Chief Straub. Before Judge Walker, Wenzel waived examination to the charge of false representation and was bound over for trial at the next term of circuit court, with bail fixed at $300.

Wanted For Forgery Sheriff Matt Christianson of Price County arrived in the city, Tuesday evening, with a warrant for Wenzel's arrest on the charge of forgery. At Prentice the man had also passed himself off as H. L. Roe and succeeded in getting money on a check for $200 from Mr. Hicks, a prominent attorney. The paper, which was later discovered to be worthless, was given the lawyer in advance payment for legal services. The amount more than covered the fee and Hicks returned the man a snug sum in change. Wenzel will probably be tried in this county first and then taken to Phillips to answer to the more serious charge.

May Be An Old Criminal.

On the way to the County jail, after his arrest, Wenzel told Chief Straub that his correct name is Murphy and that his home is in Montana. He intimated that a heavy reward was hanging over his head for an old crime in the west and informed the chief that he would make a full confession to him Tuesday afternoon. The officer called at the jail at the time stated, but the fellow had evidently changed his mind and refused to talk. It is believed that Wenzel, Murphy or whatever his name may be, is either an old time criminal or is mentally deranged.

CHAPTER VII.

"MR. HARMAN," I said as she took the chair vacated by the old young lady, "you remember my woodland dikes, I fear?"

She smiled in a pleasant, comprehending way, but neither directly replied nor made any return speech whatever. Instead she let her forearms rest on the broad railing of the marble balustrade and, leaning forward, gazed out over the shining and mysterious slopes below.

"Mr. Cresson Ingle," I hazarded, "is he an old friend of your cousin's? I think he was not above the horizon when I went to Capri two years ago."

"He wants Elizabeth," she returned, adding quietly, "as you've seen." And when I had verified this assumption with a monosyllabic she continued, "He's an 'available,' but I should hate to have it happen. He's hard."

"He doesn't seem very hard toward her," I murmured, looking down into the garden where Mr. Ingle just then happened to be adjusting a scarf about his hostess's shoulders.

"He's led a detestable life," said Mrs. Harman, "among detestable people."

"He seems to me much of a type with these others," I said.

"Oh, they keep their surfaces about the same!"

"It made me wish I had a little more surface tonight," I laughed. "I'd have fitted better. Miss Ward is different at different times. When we are alone together she always has the air of exclaiming or at least explaining these people to me, but this evening I've had the disquieting thought that perhaps she also explained me to them."

"Oh, no!" said Mrs. Harman, turning to me quickly. "Didn't you see? She was making up to Mr. Ingle for this morning. It came out that she'd ridden over at daylight to see you. Anne Elliott discovered it in some way and told him."

"I suppose she finished her investigations. You told her all you could?"

"Almost."

"I suppose you wouldn't trust me with the reservation?" she asked, smiling.

"I would trust you with anything," I answered seriously.

"You didn't gratify that child?" she said, half laughing. "Then, to my surprise, her tone changed suddenly, and she began again in a hurried low voice, 'You didn't tell her—' and stopped there, breathless and troubled, letting me see that I had been right after all. This was what she wanted to talk about."

"I didn't tell her that young Saffren is mad—no—if that is what you mean."

"I'm glad you didn't," she said slowly.

"In the first place, I wouldn't have told her even if it were true," I returned, "and in the second it isn't true, though you have some reason to think it is," I added.

"It's said," "Why?"

"His speaking to you as he did, a thing on the face of it inconceivable."

"Why did he call me 'Mme. d'Armand'?" she interposed.

I explained something of the mental processes of Amedee, and she listened till I had finished, then bade me continue.

"That's all," I said blankly, but with a second thought caught her meaning. "Oh, about young Saffren, you mean?"

"Yes."

"I know him pretty well," I said, "without really knowing anything about him; but, what is stranger, I believe he doesn't really know a great deal about himself. My idea is that probably through some great illness he lost not his faculty of memory, but his memories, or at least most of them. That's all, except that there's something about the young man that draws one to him. I couldn't tell you how much I like him nor how sorry I am that he offended you."

"He didn't offend me," she murmured, almost whispered.

"He didn't mean to," I said warmly. "I am glad you understand that."

"I saw him today," she said gently. "This afternoon when I went for my walk he was waiting where the paths intersect."

Some hasty ejaculation, I do not know what, came from me, but she lifted her hand.

"Wait," she said quietly. "As soon as he saw me he came straight toward me."

"Oh, but this won't do at all!" I broke out. "It's too bad!"

"Wait," she leaned forward. "He said he must know if he had offended me."

"You told him?"

"I told him 'No.' And it seemed to me that her voice, which up to this point had been low, but very steady, shook upon the monosyllable. "He walked with me a little way—perhaps it was longer."

"Trust me that it shouldn't happen again!" I exclaimed. "I'll see that Keredec knows of this at once. He will!"

"No, no," she interrupted quickly.

"That is just what I want you not to do. Will you promise me?"

"I'll promise anything you ask me. But didn't he frighten you?"

"He didn't frighten me—not as you mean. He was very quiet and—she broke off unexpectedly with a little plying cry and turned to me, lifting both hands appealingly. "And, oh, doesn't he make one sorry for him?"

That was just it. She had gone straight to the heart of his mystery: his strangeness was the strange pathos that invested him; the "singularity" of "that other monsieur" was solved for me at last.

When she had spoken she rose, advanced a step and stood looking out over the valley again, her skirts pressing the balustrade. One of the moments in my life when I have wished to be a figure painter came then as she raised her arms, the sleeves of some dimy texture, falling back from them with the gesture, and clasped her hands lightly behind her neck, the graceful angle of her chin uplifted to the full rain of moonshine.

She stood in profile to me. There were some jasmine flowers at her breast. I could see them rise and fall with more than deep breathing.

"I haven't had my life. It's gone!" It was almost as if I heard his voice close at hand with all the passion of regret and protest that rang in the words when they broke from him in the forest. And by some miraculous conjecture within the moment I seemed not only to hear his voice, but actually to see him, a figure dressed in white, far below us and small with the distance, standing out in the moonlight in the middle of the tree bordered avenue leading to the chateau gates.

I rose and leaned over the railing. There was no doubt about the reality of the figure in white, though it was too far away to be identified with certainty, and as I rubbed my eyes for steps in turn—but slowly and carefully, as if fearful of waking his guardian—and I heard his door closing very gently. Long before his arrival, however, I had been certain of his identity with the figure I had seen gazing up at the terraces of Quesnay from the borders of the grove. Other questions remained to bother me: Why had Keredec not prevented this night roving, and why, since he did permit it, should he conceal his knowledge of it from Oliver? And what, oh, what wondrous specific had the mighty man found for his disease?

A note lay beside my plate next morning addressed in a writing strange to me, one of dashing and vigorous character. It read:

In the pursuit of thrilling scientific research, what with the tumult which possessed me, I forgot to mention the bond that links us. I, too, am a painter, though as yet unhonored and unborn. It must be only because I lack a gentle hand to guide me. If I might ask better you to paint! The hours pass on leaden wings at Quesnay. I could shriek. Do not refuse me a few words of instruction, either in the wilderness, whither I could support your shrinking steps, or from time to time as you work in your studio, which I glean from the instructive Mr. Ferretti is at Les Trois Pigeons. At any hour, at any moment, I will speed to you. I am, sir, yours, if you will but breathe a "yes,"

ANNE ELLIOTT.

To this I returned a reply, as much in her own key as I could write it, putting my refusal on the ground that I was not at present painting in the studio. I added that I hoped her suit might prosper, regretting that I could not be of greater assistance to that end, and concluded with the suggestion that Mme. Brossard might entertain an offer for lessons in cooking.

The result of my attempt to echo her vivacity was discomfiting, and I was allowed to perceive that epistolary jocularity was not thought to be my line. It was Miss Elizabeth who gave me this instruction three days later, on the way to Quesnay for "second breakfast." Exercising fairly shamefaced diplomacy, I had avoided dining at the chateau again, but by arrangement she had driven over for me this morning in the phaeton.

"Why are you writing silly notes to that child?" she demanded as soon as we were away from the inn.

"Was it silly?"

"You should know. Do you think that style of humor suitable for a young girl?"

This bewildered me a little. "But there wasn't anything offensive!"

"No?" Miss Elizabeth lifted her eyebrows to a height of blind inquiry. "She mightn't think it rather—well, rough?" Your suggesting that she should take cooking lessons?"

"But she suggested she might take painting lessons," was my feeble protest. "I only meant to show her I understood that she wanted to get to the inn."

"And why should she care to 'get to the inn'?"

"She seemed interested in a young man who is staying there. 'Interested' is the mildest word for it I can think of."

At the chateau, having a mind to offer some sort of apology, I looked anxiously about for the subject of our rather disquieting conversation, but she was not to be seen until the party assembled at the table, set under an awning on the terrace.

Mrs. Harman had not appeared at all, having gone to call upon some one at Dires. I was told, and a servant informing me, on inquiry, that Miss Elliott had retired to her room, I was thrust upon my own devices indeed.

Continued.

"And, oh, doesn't he make one sorry for him."

clearer sight it turned and disappeared into the shadows of the orderly grove where I had stood one day to watch Louise Harman ascend the slopes of Quesnay.

But I told myself sensibly that more than one man on the coast of Normandy might be wearing white flannels that evening and, turning to my companion, found that she had moved some steps away from me and was gazing eastward to the sea. I concluded that she had not seen the figure.

The round moon was white and at its smallest, high overhead, when at midnight I stepped out of the phaeton in which Miss Elizabeth sent me back to Mme. Brossard's.

When my lamp was extinguished I set my door ajar, moved my bed out from the wall to catch whatever breeze might stir, "composed myself for the night," as it used to be written, and lay looking out upon the quiet garden, where a thin white haze was rising. Just as I had begun to drowse the gallery steps creaked and the noble form of Keredec emerged upon my field of vision. From the absence of the sound of footsteps I supposed him to be either barefooted or in his stockings. His visible costume consisted of a sleeping jacket tucked into a pair of trousers, while his tousled hair and beard and generally tossed and rumpled look were those of a man who had been lying down temporarily.

I heard him sigh—like one sighing for sleep—as he went noiselessly across the garden and out through the archway to the road. At that I sat straight up in bed to stare, and well I might, for here was a miracle! He had lifted his arms above his head to stretch himself comfortably, and he walked upright and at ease, whereas when I had last seen him the night before he had been able to do little more than crawl, bent far over and leaning painfully upon his friend. Never man be held a more astonishing recovery from a bad case of rheumatism.

After a long look down the road he retraced his steps, and the moonlight, striking across his great forehead as he came, revealed the furrows plowed there by an anxiety of which I guessed the cause. The creaking of the wooden stairs and gallery and the whine of an old door announced that he had returned to his vigil.

I had perhaps a quarter of an hour to consider this performance, when it was repeated; now, however, he only glanced out into the road, retreating hastily, and I saw that he was smiling, while the speed he maintained in returning to his quarters was remarkable for one so newly convalescent.

The next moment Saffren came through the archway, ascended the

POTATOES TAKE A DROP

A glance through our exchanges from Waupaca and Portage counties shows that potatoes have taken a sudden slump and those who have held on to the tubers are heavy losers. Waupaca has been hit especially hard.

It is said that at shipping points out from that city potatoes are selling from 16 cents to 18 cents per bushel. The low price is due to an overstocked market, the February report showing that at that time there were 80,000,000 bushels in the country.

TO CAMP JULY 9th

The annual encampment of the Wisconsin National Guards will open at Camp Douglas July 9. It is generally believed that the Second regiment, of which Company L. of this city is a member, will be the first to go into camp. The boys of the Rhinelander militia are taking great interest in the organization and nearly a full company reports for duty on each weekly drill night. Many new recruits are expected to join during the spring.

"DOC" GETS THE CRAZE

D. F. Recker, one of the prominent horsemen of northern Wisconsin, has at last acquired the automobile craze and as a result will substitute his fast pacer, Fernwood, with a new model touring car. Fernwood was sold this week to parties at Ashland. How long "Doc" will stick to the benzine buggy remains a problem. Some of his friends are already predicting that he will soon drift back to the reins again.

The Herald is contributing the Milwaukee Journal, Milwaukee Daily News and Scientific American.

The current numbers of the magazines may be taken from the library Saturday night at eight o'clock for over Sunday. As soon as the new numbers are received, the previous numbers can be circulated.

It is hoped that a large number of citizens will avail themselves of the opportunity to use the reading room, where they will find well lighted tables and a comfortable, quiet place to read.

A NIGHT ALARM

Worse than an alarm of fire at night is the metallic cough of croup. Careful mothers keep Foley's Honey and Tar in the house and give it at the first sign of danger. Foley's Honey and Tar has saved many little lives. No opiates.

J. J. Reardon.

"OLD LOUIE" IS NO MORE

Well Known Character Dies Suddenly Monday Afternoon

Louis Thiel, known familiarly as "Old Louie," a character about the streets of Rhinelander for the last twenty-two years, suddenly expired while in the back room of a Brown Street saloon, Monday afternoon. A short time before he died he entered the saloon and told the proprietor that he was not feeling well. He was assisted to a chair and within a few minutes had breathed his last. "Old Louie" came to Rhinelander when the Soo road was building through this part of the country. He was his own worst enemy, living entirely about saloons. There is one story to the effect that he once was a man of considerable wealth, but having domestic troubles, he left home and later lost his fortune. "Louie" never talked much concerning his former life. He was a great fancier of dogs and always had one or two homeless curs tagging after him. Some years ago he lost his best friend and chum, "Little Andrew," who was killed by a Soo train. The two were always together and when Andrew departed this life, "Louie" was the sole mourner.

Nothing is known regarding the old man's people, although it is said that he has relatives in Germany, who are in comfortable circumstances. He was seventy-two years of age.

The remains were buried yesterday afternoon in Forest Home cemetery. Tim O'Connell, who frequently befriended "Louie," defrayed the expenses of his funeral.

PIONEER CLERGYMAN DEAD

Rev. Edmonds, Formerly of This City
Succumbs at Wausau.

The funeral of the Rev. L. M. Edmonds, a former resident of Rhinelander, and father of E. A. Edmonds, chairman of the Republican state central committee, was held Tuesday at Wausau and the body was taken to Appleton for interment.

Mr. Edmonds was one of the pioneer clergymen of the state and an active member of the Methodist conference of Wisconsin from 1857 to 1897. During the time that he made his home in this city he was not actively engaged in clerical work but held a position with the Rhinelander Paper Co. Two years ago he assumed charge of a church at Brokaw, a little town near Wausau, which he continued to serve until taken ill about seven weeks ago. He was seventy seven years of age and is survived by a widow and five children, namely E. A. Edmonds, formerly of this city now of Appleton, Dr. Fred Edmonds, Brokaw, W.
T. Edmonds, Miss Mae Edmonds and Mrs. N. H. Brokaw, Wausau, all of whom were at his bedside when the end came.

HUNTERS TO ORGANIZE

A hunters' association with a total membership of 40,000 will be organized in this state. The object of the association is to give actual hunters in Wisconsin a voice in framing the game laws of the state, with a view to so regulating the open and closed seasons that game may be fully protected and yet real sport not limited at seasons when shooting can do no actual harm.
Rhineland hunters are much interested in the movement and will become members of the body.

Do farmers eat the proper sort of food?

The farmer of today buys a much larger proportion of the food that goes on the table than he did ten years ago.
It is a good thing that this is so because he has a great variety to select from.
He should, however, use great care in selecting for the best results in health and strength.

The widespread tendency in the city to increase the amount of Quaker Oats eaten is due very largely to the recent demonstrations by scientific men that the Quaker Oats fed man is the man with greatest physical endurance and greatest mental vigor.

Farmers should give this subject careful thought and should increase the quantity of Quaker Oats eaten by themselves, their children and the farm hands.

The regular size 10c package is not as convenient for the farmer as the large size family package at 25c.

A PROCLAMATION

By the President of the United States of America

Whereas by the Act of Congress approved July 2, 1909, the Thirteenth Decennial Census of the United States is to be taken, beginning on the fifteenth day of April, nineteen hundred and ten; and

Whereas a correct enumeration of the population every ten years is required by the constitution of the United States for the purpose of determining the representation of the several States in the House of Representatives; and

Whereas it is of the utmost importance to the interests of all the people of the United States that this census should be a complete and accurate report of the population and resources of the country:

Now, therefore, I, William Howard Taft, President of the United States of America, do hereby declare and make known that, under the act aforesaid, it is the duty of every person to answer all questions on the census schedules applying to him and the family to which he belongs, and to the farm occupied by him or his family, and that any adult refusing to do so is subject to penalty.

The sole purpose of the census is to secure general statistical information regarding the population and resources of the country, and replies are required from individuals only in order to permit the compilation of such general statistics. The census has nothing to do with taxation, with army or jury service, with the compulsion of school attendance, with the regulation of immigration, or with the enforcement of any national, state, or local law or ordinance, nor can any person be harmed in any way by furnishing the information required. There need be no fear that any disclosure will be made regarding any individual person or his affairs. For the due protection of the rights and interests of the persons furnishing information every employee of the Census Bureau is prohibited, under heavy penalty, from disclosing any information which may thus come to his knowledge.

I therefore earnestly urge upon all persons to answer promptly, completely, and accurately all inquiries addressed to them by the enumerators or other employees of the Census Bureau, and thereby to contribute their share toward making this great and necessary public undertaking a success.

In Witness Whereof, I have here-unto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

Done at the city of Washington this fifteenth day of March, A. D. one thousand nine hundred and ten, and of the Independence of the United States of America the one hundred and thirty-fourth.

WM. H. TAFT.

P. C. KNOX,
Secretary of State.

Your Money Back if You are Not Satisfied with the Medicine We Recommend

We are so positive that our remedy will permanently relieve constipation, no matter how chronic it may be, that we offer to furnish the medicine at our expense should it fail to produce satisfactory results.

It is worse than useless to attempt to cure constipation with cathartic drugs. Laxatives or cathartics do much harm. They cause a reaction, irritate and weaken the bowels and tend to make constipation more chronic. Besides, their use becomes a habit that is dangerous.

Constipation is caused by a weakness of the nerves and muscles of the large intestines or accending colon. To expect permanent relief you must therefore tone up and strengthen these organs and restore them to healthier activity.

The discovery of the active principle of our remedy involved the labor of the world's greatest research chemists. As an active agent it possesses the valuable qualities of the best known intestinal tonics as well as being particularly pleasant and prompt in its results.

We want you to try Rexall Or-dies on our recommendation.
They are exceedingly pleasant to take, being eaten like candy, and are ideal for children, delicate persons and old folks, as well as for the robust. They act directly on the nerves and muscles of the bowels.
They apparently have a neutral action on other associate organs, or glands. They do not "purge," cause excessive looseness nor create any inconvenience, whatever. They may be taken at any time, day or night. They will positively relieve chronic or habitual constipation, if not of surgical variety, and the myriads of associate or dependent chronic ailments, if taken with regularity for a reasonable length of time.
They come in two sizes of packages, 12 tablets, 10 cents; 36 tablets, 25 cents. Sold in Rhineland only at our store, The Rexall Store, J. J.

It's The Best Polish I Ever Used

That's What Every One Says Who Tries

Black Silk Stove Polish

DON'T imagine for a moment that all brands of stove polish are the same.
Don't get the idea that to keep a nice glossy shine on your stove you must black it every few days. It's not a question of repeated application.

It's a question of the stove polish to use.
Black Silk Stove Polish is so much better than other stove polishes that there is absolutely no comparison—it is a class all by itself.

It makes a brilliant glossy shine that doesn't rub off. It cleans the iron—becomes a part of the stove. It makes old stoves look like new and lasts four times as long as any other shine.

Get a can and give it a trial. Try it on your parlor stove, your cook stove, or your gas range. If you do not find it the best stove polish you ever used, your dealer is authorized to refund your money. Black Silk Stove Polish has been made by the same formula and sold under one name for 25 years.

Here is what some of the ladies write us:
"I saw your advertisement but was unable to secure the polish here. I sent to for a can and found Black Silk Stove Polish so much better than any I had ever used that I asked my hardware dealer to order a supply. He did so, and is now selling it in the place your wonderful polish. I had no idea there could be such a difference in stove polish."

"I tried the sample box of Black Silk Stove Polish and like it so well that I want to black all the other stoves in the house. Enclosed find check. Send me a can for that amount by return mail. Our fire is so much brighter now than it was before. I was visiting friends in Chicago and they used Black Silk Stove Polish on their stoves.
It made the best shine I ever saw, and after blacking the polish it did not rub off. It is the best stove polish I have ever tried."

"I received the Black Silk Stove Polish and found it all you claim and the best I ever used."

Ask Your Dealer

For Black Silk Stove Polish and refuse a counterfeits brand.
Only the genuine Black Silk Stove Polish will give you the best. Made in liquid or paste—one quality.

ELDER HENRY CUNNINGHAM

Recommends Vinol

For Weak, Run-Down People.

"I was run down and weak from indigestion and general debility, also suffered from vertigo. I saw a cod liver preparation called Vinol advertised and decided to give it a trial, and the results were most gratifying.

After taking two bottles I regained my strength, and am now feeling unusually well." — HENRY CUNNINGHAM, Elder Baptist Church, Kingston, N.C.

Vinol contains the two most world-famed tonics—the medicinal, strengthening, body-building elements of Cod Liver Oil and Tonic Iron. Vinol contains no oil, and is by far the Best Strengthening Tonic obtainable. We return your money without question if Vinol does not accomplish all we claim for it.
